

Attracting Students towards pure Sciences

†1545. SHRI JANESHWAR MISHRA: Will the Minister of SCIENCE AND TECHNOLOGY be pleased to state:

(a) whether it is a fact that most of the students these days are going for the disciplines of Administration, Management, Computer and C.A. and have lost interest in the study of pure sciences because of professional education, race to earn money and lack of resources in the country;

(b) if so, the details thereof; and

(c) what steps Government are taking to attract them again towards pure sciences?

THE MINISTER OF STATE IN THE MINISTRY OF SCIENCE AND TECHNOLOGY (SHRI BACHI SINGH RAWAT): (a) to (c) Government is aware about young students opting for careers in disciplines other than pure sciences. With a view to attract young students towards a career in pure sciences, the Government started the Kishore Vaigyanik Prothsaahan Yojana (KVPY) in 1999. Under this scheme, students after Class X and Class XII, who opt for studies in pure sciences, are offered attractive scholarships and participation in summer schools/projects etc. during their course of study. Further, the Government has also recently set up a "Fund for Improvement of S&T Infrastructure in Universities and other Higher Educational Institutions (FIST)" to use infrastructural improvements as a means of attracting and retaining talent.
